ALMA MATER
by Hamlin E. Cogswell

To our noble Alma Mater's name
We, her children, sing a joyful lay,
And to her a new allegiance pledge,
That lives beyond a day.

A prayer for her who sheltered us,
A hope no child her name will stain,
A cheer thrice given with a hearty voice
And now a sweet refrain.

Of loyalty are symbols twain,
Her colors, crimson and the gray,
"Dear Indiana Mother Fair,"
The burden of our lay.

(Refrain)

Sing, O sing, Our Alma Mater's praise,
Hail, O Hail; her colors' gleaming hue!
Give to her our homage and our love
And to her name be true.

University colors—Maroon and Slate

University symbol—Indian

Clark Hall was built on the ruins of a dormitory destroyed by fire on February 4, 1906, and is named for Justice Silas M. Clark, second Presidnet of the Indiana Normal School Board of Trustees.

It was occupied by male students in January of 1907, and remained a men's residence until 1924, when it was converted into a women's dormitory. The building housed women until 1960, when it was converted to an administration building, which it remains today. A student lounge was located in the basement until 1965, when it was replaced by a computer center, which moved to John Sutton Hall in 1968.

Tribute to

indiana University of Pennsylvania has come a long way from the Normal School that was begun in 1875. The changes that it has seen have been great and many, thought Indiana has not come to the point of perfection, and changes continue to slowly ease themselves into the school.

It is easy to abide with the status quo but Jay Smith, Dan Fine, and Martin McGurrin rose above that point to the place that they tried independantly in the past few years to reform the traditional classroom to a place where a a true learning experience can be created. Whether in the sociology , educational psychology , or political science departments, the faculty, students and administration took rapid note of their activities. Many fought the new techniques and the people advocating them, while others, usually less influential, admired their work. Although such techniques and personalities have often been seen in other parts of the country, insome ways they were radical for Indiana. Abandonment of finals, lectures relating to contemporary issues, and a teacher-student atmosphere based on equality struck at the complacency of traditional education at IUP.

Although these three have left Indiana, either by force or choice, and have begun to work at other colleges, their work still leaves its mark on the University, as other members of the faculty begin to employ their techniques, or continue rejecting them in favor of tradition.
Jay Smith, Dan Fine, and Marty McGurrin have begun what may well become a complete change in educational policies at IUP. The adamant opposition that they met may very well kill incentive for progressive education at IUP, but hopefully they have started something that will be continued.

In either case, they should be commended for their innovation and courage, and hence our dedication of this book.

WELCOME TO FRESHMEN:

Last fall Yale University held its annual Parents' Day which provided an opportunity for parents, students and faculty to get acquainted and exchange views. By the time of this affair, students had been on campus long enough to discover things were not perfect, and realizing that the students would have many complaints to make to their parents, President Kingman Brewster in his address to the general assemblage, remarked with a twinkle in his eye: "And now you have found that Yale isn't as good as it is hard to get into".

I am sure that those of you who entered Indiana this fall are finding the same thing to be true of our University. Admittedly, there are many areas which need improvement despite years of effort. However, we are continuing to change things for the better, and I am glad that you are embarking on your college career during one of our most exciting periods in the history of higher education. You belong to the generation of college students who will enjoy a higher degree of participation and exert a stronger student voice than any previous student generation. Thus, you will participate in the election of student representatives to the University Senate in which your representatives will have a significant voice. And on the departmental level, you will discover that many departments are seeking the opinions of students and involving them on various committees affecting departmental policy and procedures. When you hopefully graduate four years hence, you will have student representatives on the commencement committee.

In addition to participating in the governance of the University, you also are privileged to pursue your higher education at a time of great experimentation and innovation. Professors are trying new methods, using the latest equipment and relating subject matter to contemporary problems.

During your first few weeks you will experience a profound "cultural shock" as you plunge into the icy waters of academe. To assist you in making this transition as quickly and comfortably as possible, the editors of Vade Mecum have prepared this handbook of information which should be most helpful to you as you adjust to life at Indiana University of Pennsylvania. In addition, I want you to feel free to consult your dormitory counselors, personnel deans, and advisors on problems which you encounter. I also would urge you to seek help from Dr. James W. Laughlin, our Infoman, who is extremely knowledgeable about the University and can assist you either directly or through referrals.

Let me conclude by wishing you a successful orientation as you embark upon your four year program at the University.

A Brief History of Indiana University of Pennsylvania

by SAMUEL F. FURGIUELE,
Director of Public Relations

From a humble beginning Indiana University of Pennsylvania has become a very important institution of higher learning which serves the needs of a large number of Pennsylvania citizens. With a student body of only 225 in its first year, Indiana this year has an enrollment of over 10,000 students.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania grew out of a need for a teacher-training institution in Pennsylvania in 1871 when the Pennsylvania General Assembly passed an act granting aid for the establishment of a normal school in the Ninth Pennsylvania District.

Since the building was opened for students in 1875, the University has graduated over 24,000 students; and since becoming a degree conferring institution in 1927, has granted over 14,000 degrees.

Ownership and control of the institution passed to the Commonwealth in 1920. A few years later, the General Assembly approved a change in the name and function of the school. As the State Teacher's College at Indiana, it became a four-year college with the right to grant the Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

In 1957 the college was authorized to offer, for the first time, work leading to the Master of Education degree in Elementary Education. The program was later expanded to include fifteen secondary areas as well. This program, which began with an enrollment of 74 in September, 1957, has graduated over 1,000 students through January 1969, and currently enrolls a total of about 4,000 students.

In 1959 the name of the college was changed to Indiana State College. This set the stage for a liberal arts program which graduated its first students on January 12, 1964. This program, which began with 72 students in 1962, now enrolls over 1200 students in the areas of the Social Sciences, the Humanities, and the Natural Sciences.

In September, 1962, Indiana established its first off-campus center at Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania. In September, 1963, as second center to serve the general area of Armstrong County, was established at Kittanning, Pennsylvania.

In December, Indiana was redesignated the Indiana University of Pennsylvania with the right to expand its curricular offerings and to grant degrees at the doctoral level, as well as in several additional areas at the master's level.

Indiana has pioneered in educational television and has regularly offered courses over WQED, Pittsburgh's educational television station, as well as over other area stations.

In 1950, an Army Reserve Officer Training Corps was established at Indiana. Since that time over 600 graduates have been commissioned second lieutenants in the army, approximately 100 of whom are currently serving as regular officers in the Regular Army of the United States. The Cadet Corps at Indiana, which consisted of 208 students in 1950, has numbered over 1600.

Through the years, the physical plant of the university has increased from an original single building to a campus of about 185 acres (including approximately 100 acres encompassing the University Lodge) in the center of the community of Indiana with more than 30 major buildings, 20 other buildings, and a major athletic field development which provides adequately for the recreational and physical activities of IUP students.

Recently completed were a men's dormitory complex, learning resourse center, student health center, ROTC building, maintenence building, a student affairs building, and a fine arts building. Presently under construction are a women's dormitory complex and a new dining hall.

The overall plan is for the campus to be expanded to over 200 acres, accomodating approximately 12,000 full-time undergraduate students by 1980.

University Services and Information

MASTER CALENDAR

A wood and glass structure known as the Master Calendar now hangs on the walls of the Student Union. It is an effort to centralize the listing of important activities on the campus for all to view easily and to help eliminate duplicate scheduling and reduce conflicting activities. By its very nature the Calendar can provide the most up-to-date information on activities and aid in the long-range planning of campus organizations.

The Master Calendar senter is operated from the office of the Assistant Program Director in the Student Union, and it receives inormation in any one of the following ways:

1. Organization advisors submit lists of their organization's activities.
2. Persons making room reservations for an organizational event are asked to fill out a Master Calendar form.
3. Any person wishing to announce an organizational activity may receive a form to fill out on request at the Union Service Desk.

TELEPHONE SERVICE

Telephone service to the University was improved immeasurably last year with the addition of the Centrex system, which put a telephone with direct dialing in every room except those in John Sutton. It provided the campus with its own "357" exchange and reorganized intra-campus calling. With Centrex telephones, it is possible to dial all telephones on campus, dial direct station to station local and long distance calls, receive directly dialed incoming calls, and transfer incoming calls from one telephone on campus to another.

To dial an on-campus number, simply dial the four digit number. For local calls, dial 9 and then the seven digit number. For long distance calls, dial 9-1 -area code-seven digit number, except for calls within the 412 area, in which case it is not necessary to include the area code in dialing. For other calls, dial 9-0 for the Indiana Operator. To transfer incoming calls, depress the switchhook once, give the operator the extention number the call is to be transferred to, and hang up. In case of emergencies, dial 2140.

Billing is automatic, and bills are mailed to dormitory room telephones directly each month. Only long distance calls and telegram charges will appear on you bill. Payment is made directly to Bell Telephone Company.

DAILY BULLETIN—Issued by the Public Relations Office every day that classes are held, and posted throughout the campus. Notices to be printed in the Bulliten must be taken to room 312 Clark Hall before 11am the day before publication. Notices will be printed a maximum of two consecutive days upon request, except for administrative announcements, which run three days. All items should be clear, concise, and of concern to a large portion of the Jniversity community. It is sometime necessary to have an item signed by you organizational advisor.

FOOD SERVICES—Commuters may purchase meals at the Student Union Coffee Shop, at the Home Economics Cafeteria in Ackerman Hall, at the Coffee Shop in Foster Hall, or at the other convenient restaurants around the campus.

Contract students may take their meals at Foster, Sutton, or Whitmyre Halls.

HEALTH SERVICES Pechan Health Services Center, (the University Infirmary), is located at the corner of Pratt Drive and Maple Street, next to the men's tri-dorms, and is for the use of all students free of charge, except for special medication and prescriptions. Regular hours are maintained, but there is a nurse available at all times in case of an emergency. The nurse should not be called to a student's room unless the seriousness of the illness makes a trip to the infirmary impossible. After the dormitories close for the night, all students should contact their counselors or resident assistants, their head residents, or the Assistant Deans of Men and Women in case of illness. The infirmary should be called before coming if at all possible.

House and dormitory students who are seriuosly ill may secure a bed in the infirmary free of charge for three days. For each additional day a charge of $1.00 is made. Off-campus students are charged $3.00 from the first day.

INFIRMARY HOURS

Nurses on call 24 hours daily in case of emergency.

Regular Hours

Drs. Thomas Hadden, Charles Beymer, and T. D. Hunter

PSYCHOLOGICAL CLINIC—This clinic is located in Room 216 Davis Hall, and provides for personal, vocational, and educational diagnosis and counseling. Marion Geisel is Director. Ext. 2453.

READING CLINIC—Diagnosis and remedial instruction for reading and spelling disabilities are available as well as instruction for the improvement in the level of present skill. Dr. Jerry Fiddler is the Director, and the clinic is located in Room 211 Davis Hall, Ext. 2476.

SPEECH AND HEARING CLINIC—Incoming freshmen are screened in order to identify any speech or hearing disorders. Following the screening, students with speech disorders are referred for further treatment. Speech clearance is necessary for Junior standing clearance and for Education majors. Hearing tests are administered to University students upon request. The Director is Dr. Maude Brungard, Ext. 2473, Room 263 Davis Hall.

LOST AND FOUND—Students should report loss of any property immediately to the custodian of the building. Articles found should be turned in to the University Post Office on the ground floor of the west wing of Foster Hall, where a lost and found service is provided.

MAIL—The University Post Office is located in Foster Hall on the corner of 11th and Grant streets. The mail is delivered to offices and dormitories from this location. Since it is a branch of the Indiana Post Office, most postal facilities are available, including boxes for commuting students. The hours are 8:00am until 4:00pm daily, and Saturday from 8:00am to 11:30am.

PROFESSIONAL LABORATORY EXPERIENCES—Students in the School of Education are encouraged to observe teachers and pupils at work in the University school, located in Davis Hall. This should be done by arrangement with the Director of the University school, Dr. Alvin Stuart. Students may also observe classes in other schools by making arrangements through the Director of Professional Laboratory Experiences, Room 418 Davis Hall. Observations and participation in class and school-related activities enrich professional course work and develop readiness for student teaching, scheduled near the end of the undergraduate program.

ROTC—The Military Science Department, located in Pierce Hall, provides instruction in Military Science to all physically qualified male students who wish to take advantage of it. Eligible students may attend the Advanced Course in ROTC which enables the student to earn a commission as an officer in the U. S. Army along with his college degree.

FINANCIAL AID—The Scholarship and Loan programs are directed by the Financial Aid Office. Any student needing financial aid should file a financial aid application, which is available upon request at Room 203 Pratt Hall. The University has several loan funds and a considerable number of scholarships available for needy students who maintain good academic records. A small brochure decribing the available financial aid at Indiana can be picked up at the Financial Aid Office. More complete information concerning financial aid is available in the University catalouge.

All applicants for scholarships and loans must file a Parent's Confidential Statement with Princeton, New Jersey. These forms are available at the Financial Aid Office.

Students are employed on a part-time basis in a number of departments on the campus. Positions are filled on the basis of financial need and the special abilities required in certain jobs. Students in need of employment should file an application in the Financial Aid Office. Calls for student help occasionally come from townspeople, and these opportunities for work are available to students who have filed applications. Except in cases of extreme need, freshmen are urged not to seek employment during their first year, but plan to concentrate on their college work, In order to be employed by the University, a student must maintain a "C" average.

Under University employment, students usually work a fifteen hour maximum when attending classes, although there are exceptions. Checks are received every two weeks. This type of financial aid is not deducted from the tuition bill.

UNIVERSITY LODGE

The University Lodge plays an important part in the recreational and instructional life of the University. Owned by the Student Cooperative Association, this 100 acres of wooded hillside, with its rustic lodge, three picnic shelters, ski tow, toboggan run, and nature and hiking trails, not only offers opportunities for classes to study nature and conservation but also is in demand for picnics, meetings and winter sports. Currently, proposals are being studied to greatly expand the Lodge and its facilities in the next few years, and many important decisions on the topic will be made this Fall.

Any student or faculty member is welcome to use the Lodge property, but must be ready to identify himself by presenting an I-Card at the request of the caretaker.

During the winter months, ski equipment, sleds, and toboggans may be checked out for use.

Arrangements for the use of the Lodge property by groups or classes must be made in the office of the Scheduling Officer, Mr. Marchand at least one day prior to use. A permit is issued and must be presented to the caretaker on arrival.

Any of the following are eligible to use the Lodge:

1. Any individual student or faculty member.
2. Any student group with a faculty advisor.
3. Any organized unit or group of alumni.
4. Any organized faculty group, groups with faculty predominating, or faculty families.
5. Students with their families may use outside shelters when the usual permit has been issued.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

Every man is required by law to register for the draft following his eighteenth birthday. IUP students may register at the local draft board if they choose.

Astudent who desires to receive or retain the II-S student classification must complete form SS109 each Fall while he is a student. Freshmen must also complete form SS104 (personal request for II-S) and mail it to their local board when they register for the draft. A student must complete 12 credits each semester to be considered full time for selective service purposes.

Questions pertaining to Selective Service matters should be directed to the Assistant Dean of Men, Whitmyre Hall.

VETERANS

Veterans must complete the proper forms in the office of the Assistant Dean of Men, Whitmyre Hall each semester and each summer in order to receive their benefits. Veterans must also notify the Veteran's Councelor if they withdraw from the University.

Veterans should submit a copy of their DD214 to the Dean of their school for evaluation for possible University credit.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

The Veteran's Counselor also assists these individuals with their request forms for education benefits.

CAREER SERVICES

Career Services are available in the Career Services Office to all IUP students approaching graduation, students who are attempting to obtain teaching certification, students who have been accepted as candidates for a degree in the Graduate School, and alumni on the basis of each one's own choice.

The primary functions of the Career Services program are:

—To provide vocational planning assistance through conferences with professional career counselors.

—To accumulate a set of credentials for each student who submits the materials and to make copies of these credentials available to prospective employers.

—To cooperate with the faculty of the University to increase the over-all awareness of current employment opportunities and trends.

—To arrange for campus interviews.

—To publicize career information, especially regarding campus interviewing opportunities.

—To prepare a vacancy file and a current vacancy list which are made available to eligible candidates.

—To maintain a career information library.

—To arrange for occupational information meeting with representatives from education, business, industry and government.

—To conduct follow-up studies of occupational supply and demand.

IUP students and alumni are qualified to receive career assistance and reasonable distribution of credentials, free of charge. This does not include academic transcripts, which may be obtained through the Registrar's office with payment of $1.00 per transcript.

Student Publications

PENN

The Indiana Penn had its beginning in 1923 and appeared sporadically throughout the 1920's, though its establishment as a campus newspaper did not occur until 1928. It later reorganized, and Vol. 1., No. 1 of the present Penn was published on September 12, 1930

The Penn is published three times a week and has a staff of over one hundred. It maintains offices in 105-107 Pratt Hall. All students are eligible to work on the staff, and may apply any time at 106 Pratt Hall, or by calling 2727 between 10am and 5pm Monday through Friday. The Co-Editors for the Fall semester are John Ghrist and Carol Vinson, and the advisor is L. J. Bright.

OAK

Records for class annuals at Indiana date back to 1888, when the Clionian appeared, and 1897, when the Empanda was produced. However, it was not until the publication of the Instano (INdiana STAte NOrmal) in 1912 that a regular yearbook appeared. The I*Instano* was renamed the Oak in 1928 when Indiana became a state teacher's college, and still retains that name.

The Oak maintains offices at 104 Pratt Hall, and publishes a yearbook which is distributed late in the Spring semester. Subscriptions for the book are available through most of the Fall semester. Students interested in joining the staff may do so by calling 2728 or appearing personally at the office. Darlene Miller is Editor of this year's book, and the general advisor is Mr. Chris Knowlton.

WIUP-FM

WIUP-FM, the university owned radio station, is located in B11 Davis Hall. The station is on the air during the late afternoon and evening five days a week. Students interested in auditioning for the radio staff shpuld contact Mr. William McCavitt at Ext. 2491.

DIRECTIONS

The editors of Directions, a magazine that began publication only last year, attempt to provide a series of essays by students at Indiana dealing with their adventures in a variety of situations and relating to a variety of subjects, though emphasis is on campus life. The author of each article selected for publication presents his own viewpoint, in a personal and subjective tone, about his or her experiences in a certain area. This year, the magazine has been produced with an eye to the questions of incoming freshmen as to what life at IUP is about beyond those first lectures by the Dean of htheir respective schools.

The magazine is self-supporting through advertising. Students interested in writing for the magazine are urged to contact either Mr. Chris Knowlton in the Student Union, or Mr. James Laughlin, Assistant Dean of Students.

Parchment Conch

The Parchment Conch is a student sponsored literary magazine, which concentrates on poetry, fiction and artwork submitted by University students. Contributions are solicited from all students, usually about November and April. The Conch is published twice a year, and any student is eligible to join the staff. Interested students should get in touch with Mr. Richard Hazley at Ext. 2276. The office of the Conch is located at 103 Pratt Hall.

The University Directory

The Directory is a listing of all properly registered students, faculty, and administrators. It is published early in the Fall term and is available free of charge to all I-Card holders. Questions about the booklet may be directed to the Manager of the Student Cooperative Association.

Vade Mecum

The Vade Mecum has had a notable predecessor in the Cue, the handbook at Indiana for many years, until the idea of a student handbook was temporarily discarded. This is only the third edition of the Vade Mecum, and it is simply a reference book of facts about the University. It is produced only once a year. Students interested in working on the staff are asked to contact Mr. Chris Knowlton in the Student Union Building during the second semester.

Have a Problem?

1. CHANGING CURRICULUM—To obtain a change in curriculum, the student obtains an application form in the office of the dean of the school into which he plans to transfer. The period for changing curriculum is usually the very first week of school of each semester and will be announced in the Daily Bulletin. The application is processed during the early part of the semester and pre-scheduling cards will show the new major.

2. DROPPING AND ADDING COURSES—The University eliminated the Drop—Add period with the scheduling procedure changeover to Arena. However, special exceptions may be granted by seeing the department chairman of a course you wish to add or drop.

3. TRANSPORTATION FOR EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA STUDENTS—Charter buses are usually arranged by student groups during vacation periods to points east and south. Check the Daily Bulletin and Penn classified ads a few weeks before vacation periods for more information.

4. TRANSFER OF CREDITS—Those students who plan to enroll in another institution should make arrangements with the Dean of their appropriate school ahead of time to see that their records are forwarded.

5. ON-CAMPUS MAIL—Mail is delivered around the campus at no charge. Mail to be delivered on campus may be deposited in special "On-campus" mailboxes located in the Post FOffice in Foster Hall, and in the Student Union building. Letters should not be mailed in regular mailboxes.

6. ACCOMODATIONS FOR COMMUTER STUDENTS—Commuter lounges are located at various campus points. Students are welcome to use the facilities at the Library, in the main lounges of all dormitories, the commuter lounge in Foster Hall, and the Student Union building.

7. ANNOUNCEMENT FOR DAILY BULLETIN—Students wishing to put items in the Daily Bulletin must submit items to the Public Relations Office (Clark Hall Room 314) by 11:00am of the day before publication.

8. PROVIDING ACCOMODATIONS FOR FRIENDS—A charge of $1.58 is made for overnight guests who wish to stay in a dormitory on Friday or Saturday nights. Arrangements should be made with the Head Resident and Dean of Men or Women, depending on the dorm involved.

9. SECURING SELECTIVE SERVICE INFORMATION—Students who have questions about their eligibility for the draft, or who may have other questions about the Selective Service may obtain informationfrom Mr. John Frank, ASssistant Dean of Men, Whitmyre Hall.

10. ARE YOU FEELING UPSET?—Call Helpline at 465-2654 if you need someone to talk to. No names or hassles, just help if you feel you need it. Helpline is staffed by trained student volunteers under the supervision of Dr. James Klinedinst of the Psychology Department.
11. AUTOMOBILE REGISTRATION—Every student and every faculty and staff member who regularly drives a car on the University cmapus must register with Mr. Owen Dougherty, Housing Director, at his office in Whitmyre Hall. Stickers are issued for the left rear bumper to identify registered automobiles. Parking violations are checked daily; drivers may be fined for illegal parking. These regulations also apply to motorbike and scooters. Students living in a University owned or University supervised dormitory are not permitted to keep cars in Indiana unless special permission is given them by the Dean of Men or Women.
12. PARKING FINES—Parking violation fines may be disputed and/or paid at Mr. Dougherty's office in Whitmyre Hall.

13. FIELD HOUSE HOURS—Because of the tentative nature of intramural scheduling, the Field House hours for students vary from season to season. If a studnet wishes to know if the gymnasiums and pool are open to him, he should call the athletic office at Ext. 2751.

14. NEED SOME INFORMATION?—Dr. James Laughlin has been designated the University's "Infoman". Any questions about any aspect of the University will be answered at Dr. Laughlin's office at 204 Pratt Hall, or by calling ext. 2221.

The Student Union at IUP

The Indiana Student Union is designed to act as a community center for all members of the University community, Students may study in one of the lounges, buy a snack or a complete meal at the Coffee Shop, listen to their choice of records at the music center, play billiards, table tennis or pinball, or just relax and play a few games of cards

On the main floor are the Service Desk, check-cashing service and Co-op offices. The entire floor plan of the Union will be altered in a series of steps during the first semester, and detailed information on new services and locations will be available soon.

The Student Union Board

by Russ Kushigan
Program Director

The Student Union Board, a panel of ten student programmers, has the responsibility of providing a great portion of the out-of-class experiences on the IUP campus. The SUB makes its home in the Student Union, but its work is carried on in numerous locations on campus and off. You'll find SUB events in Fisher Auditorium, the Fieldhouse, Pratt Auditorium, Foster Dining Hall, the Blue Room in John Sutton, the University Lodge, Three Rivers Stadium, the Nixon Theatre in Pittsburgh, and even in the Student Union.

Coffeehouse Committee: Frank Marsico
Hospitality Committee: Marie Mawe
Arts and Films Committee: Maureen Rowles
Recreation Committee: Marie Ebitz
Special Events: Jim Scalleat

The diagram above gives you a rough idea of the structure and function of the board, but it is not always easy to tell what everyone is into. Each semester the committee and its chairman decide the types of things they want to do. For example, the coffeehouse committee will be showing Flash Gordon films and bringing in travelling folk groups to the Branch (located behind the tennis courts) and the arts and films committee will sponsor an outdoor art show in the Oak Grove. The speakers committee has a communications program with a North American Indian group. All of which is to say, "Yes, there is a structure", but yet the SUB members are free to explore new areas that may interest them.

By now you are expecting some sort of pitch on joining the SUB and supporting your school and all that kind of neat stuff. Well—if you like meeting new people and working with them, please join, but first, how about a description of how things really are? The eight committees work as a unit to provide a balanced program. Two of these eight committees do little programming themselves, but rather complement the work of the other six. Speakers usually brings in well known lecturers, but on occaisons in the past has highlighted local issues such as the United Mine Workers controversy. Social Life committee's stable diet has been one of Friday night dances in the Student Union, but has hopes of expanding its role. Coffeehouse does somewhat the same thing, only its location is the Branch Coffeehouse. As mentioned before, the committee is branching out into films every week this fall. And speaking of films, Arts and Films committee has presented some of the best in recent feature films. The committee plans to increase its viewing to include "arty" or cultural films series. Recreation has concerned itself with the University Lodge property and outings to sports events, but is in the process of examining new ways to serve the needs of the campus community. Special Events is really another name for concerts, and they are constantly trying to provide the most up-to-date attractions in the pop music field. The two supporting committees (Hospitality and Publicity) add the most important finishing touches by making all those who attend the events feel welcome, and of course, spreading the word on what's happening. Hospitality, publicity and the Secretary-Treasurer have probably the three most thankless jobs, but are of vital importance to the operation of the Student Union Board. The last member of this ten-member Executive Board is the Chairman. He is usually the most experienced member of the board and the one that has to keep SUB working as a unit.

Well, there it is—if you still want to be part of it—great! If not, remember the next time you see "a SUB-sponsored event", you can thank some very dedicated people.

The Student Government Association

The Student Government Association is composed of about forty five student representatives elected at large by all undergraduate students, at a ratio of one per every two hundred students. The branch campuses also are represented at the same ratio by students from those campuses. Representatives are assigned constituencies early each semester and are required to hold weekly office hours at some location within their constituency.

The President and Vice-President of the Association are elected at large by the student body every December, and hold office for one year. Representatives are chosen in elections held twice a year, each involving about half the Congress, and their terms last one year. The other officers of Congress are chosen from among the representatives at the first meeting of every semester.

One of the Student Government Association's greatest dreams came true last Spring when the University Senate reorganized, providing students with 27% of the voting seats. Elections for those seats will take place early this Fall.

Some committees of Congress provide services to the student body.

The On- Campus Housing committee investigates complaints from dormitory residents, especially those living in privately owned dormitogies, and take steps to see that unfavorable situtations are redtified.

The Off- Campus Housing Committee conducts surveys on the quality of dwellings offered to students and sees that grievances are made clear to landlords and proper action taken. Congress pays for a lawyer used by this committee to aid students who are evicted without notice, have damage fees unfairly kept, or whose landlords fail to meet certain housing and sanitation requirments.

The Student Welfare Committee also plays a major role in aiding students. Currently it is involved in Student Votor Registration in Indiana. Working in conjuction with the ACLU and other state colleges in Pennsylvania, Student Welfare is attempting to prepare a test case to decide the question of whether or not students may vote where they go to school Elections Committee supervises all campus elections by providing standard procedures and limits to campaigns for student office.

Organizations wishing University recognition work with the Constitutional Review committee which is in charge of aiding organizations by helping their requests for recognition through all necessary University channels.

The Academic Standards Committee works to improve the classroom and evaluation methods used at the University The committee acts as a consultant and mediator in dis- The committee also deals with reported situations of academic policies, such as optional class attendance and pass-fail

This year, plans will be for the establishment of a van service for branch campus students, and emergency fine and bail loan fund, and a new faculty evaluation in cooperation with the Faculty Association.

Any student wishing to take advantage of these services has only to call Ext. 2544 or 2594 for information or help.

STUDENT COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

The Student Cooperative Association, Inc. plays an extremely broad role in the extra-curricular life of the University. All students and faculty are members of the Association. Generally speaking, almost all campus-wide activities are sponsored wholly or in part by the Association. The Association also operates the Student Union, the Branch, and the University Bookstore. It also owns and operates the University Lodge.

The business of the Association is conducted by a Board of Directors consisting of the President of the University, the Dean of Women, the Director of Professional Laboratory Experiences, a member of the Board of Trustees of the University, the Presidents of the Senior Class and Student Government.

Campus activities are supported by the Student Fund of the Student Cooperative Association, Inc. The budget for the Student Fund is prepared by a subcommittee on Finance consisting of five students appointed by the S tudent Government Association and four faculty members, on the basis of requests from various organizations. The Student Fund net budget for 1971-72 as prepared in the Spring totaled $765,322. This budget is shown below in percentage form. It is augmented by another $163,861 in income from activities sponsored by the Association. Further review and revision of the budget will occur early in the Fall term 1971-72.

I D CARD

The Association issues an I D Card to every student. Through his activity fees, the I D Card will admit him free of charge to all University social, cultural, and athletic activities. The card is validated for the spring semester and for contract dining privileges.

The I D Card serves as indentification for the student at Indiana, and should be shown on demand to any regular representative of the University or the Student Cooperative Association. It is used for checking out books at the University Library, for cashing checks at the Student Bank, for using facilities or checking out recreational equipment at the Union or the Field House and for admission to all Association efents.

You should be careful of your I D Card, and report its loss at once to the Student Union Service Desk. Misuse of the card, or loaning it to someone else, will subject both the borrower and the lender to fines and other disciplinary action.

Students who withdraw from the University during any term will be required to turn in their I D Card to the Student Cooperative Association office. Those who withdraw during a term will be entitled to a refund of activity fees on the same basis as for other University fees.

CHECK CASHING SERVICES

The Student Check Cashing Service is operated in the business office of the Student Union. Hours are 9:00am—3:00pm, Monday through Friday, and 9:00am—11:30am, Saturday.

ORGANIZATION BANKING

The Central Treasury serves the purpose of a bank for all campus organizations, making available on the University campus all services, necessary business papers, and standardized procedures for the administration of extracurricular finances. It is located in the business office of the Student Union.

Services of the Central Treasury include installation of accounting records, uniform continuation between business officers and their successors, systematic methods for handling money, and general assistance to organization officials in keeping their financial activities on a sound financial basis.

Summer School

The Summer School program at Indiana is divided into three sessions: a pre-session of three weeks, a main session of six weeks, and a post-session of three weeks. Students may earn three to four credits in the Pre- and Post sessions, and six in the main session. Any one or all of the sessions may be attended, making it possible for a student to earn from three to twelve credits in a summer.

The summer school program at IUP is designed to meet the needs of many students. Courses, workshops, seminars, and study tours are offered in the liberal arts, teacher education, and in other fields of study.

Students who are deficient in quality points for an overall C average in their completed work at the University are urged to repeat courses in which they have received a grade of D or F. Maintaining a C average or better is necessary to maintain continuance in the University.

Those who plan to attend summer school will be asked to fill out pre-registration cards in the Spring when they pre-program for Fall courses. Students are urged to do this, as it virtually guarantees them a opening in courses they may wish to take during the summer months. However, it is possible to register for classes as late as the day before a session begins, though it makes it difficult to secure a course opening. Further details will be announced during the Spring semester.

COFFEE HOUSES

The GROTTO Coffee House is the Episcopal mission on the campus. Located under the Episcopal Church Rectory on 9th Street, the GROTTO is open Friday and Saturday night from 7:30 to 11:30. It provides fellowship , entertainment, learning, and conversation for students. Student operated, the GROTTO provides refreshments in the form of expresso, exotic teas, peanuts, potato sticks and soft drinks.

The TRADEWINDS Coffee House,875 School Street, is sponsored by the Lutheran Campus Ministry, and is open to the entire campus community. It seeks to engage students in diologue with issues, ideas, and movements of contemporary and lasting importance. Art, drama, poetry, speakers, films, and folk music are the media used to treat a variety of subjects. Open Friday nights when the University is in session.

THE BRANCH: The Union's newest facility is the Branch, located in the South Campus, near the Field House and Stadium, the men's high rise dormitories, and Oakland, Rooney, and the Carriage House.

The Branch features a snack area with rustic country furniture , and a large area for dances, lectures, films, and many other regular and special occasions.

Intramural Sports

A year-round Intrmural program is conducted for both men and women. At the start of each sports season, organized leagues are formed and schedules planned. At the conclusion of the season, championship games are played between the top teams. For more information, contact Miss Ruth Podbielski (women) at Waller Gym, or Dr. Louis Sutton (men) at the Memorial Fieldhouse.

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders for athletic competitions are divided into a junior varsity and a varsity group. Selections for the six junior varsity members will be made at the beginning of the first semester and selections for the eight varsity members will be made at the end of the second semester. If you are interested in auditioning for one of these positions, contact Mrs. Isabel Helmrich, Ext.2465.

The Indiana Community

HISTORICAL FACTS ABOUT INDIANA COUNTY

A growing population and continued unrest on the Eastern Shores brought James LeTort, adventurer, trader and first white man to this unnamed territory. Setting up business with the Indians as a trader, LeTort began the records. The year was 1727 and the site of his home was present day Shelocta.

James Davenport and Peter Shaver, two white men, busied themselves with the increased fur trade and message carrying duties to the Indians west of the Alleghenies from 1731 to 1744.

Newport, the first town, was laid out near the mouth of the Blacklick creek on the Conemaugh between 1787 and 1790. All traces of the village are gone.

The oldest landmark in the county is "Shaver's Spring", mentioned in early documents and named for Peter Shaver. This spring today has been built over, and can now be seen in the Student Union Coffee shop.

Two major Indian trails crossed the county: The Kittanning path, or Armstrong trail, crossing from east to west, and the Catawba trail which extended in a northerly direction, from the Carolinas to the council fires of the six Indian Nations in New York. The Armstrong trail passed down present day Washington street, toward Shaver Spring. Catabwa Trace passed by Catawba Trace, the Girl Scout day camp near Rustic Lodge.

Indiana County, Pennsylvania, was established by the Act of March 30, 1803 from parts of Westmoreland and Lycoming Counties. Indiana, the county seat, was laid out on 250 acres of land donated for that purpose by George Clymer, signer of the Declaration of Independence. The first town lots were sold in 1805, naming Philadelphia street the main street of the town in honor of Philadelphia, Pa., George Clymer's residence.

The first white settler to hold his claim within the county was George Findley, near Cramer. The first permanent settler was Fergus Moorhead, who built his cabin, and later erected a fort, near Ben Franklin school on TRoute 422 West.

Residents of the county were active in the Underground Railroad prior to the Civil War, assisting fugitive slaves who has escaped southern masters.

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

The Historical and Genealogical Society of Indiana County is located at the intersection of South 6th Street and Wayne Avenue. Presently there is a library and museum maintained in Memorial Hall, and a reconstructed log cabin on the grounds. The society was organized in 1938 to accumulate and preserve the History of Indiana County.

The society has histories of many Pennsylvania Counties available in printed form. This has proved to be an excellent source for many people in tracing their ancestors. The reading room has newspaper files from 1879 to 1949. Hundreds of folders on geneology, schools, churches, births, deaths, and marriages (before 1884) are also available.

The library and museum are operated with the help of many Community Action groups and volunteer workers, and are open most afternoons during the year.

Emergency work in history and guided tours may be arranged by calling the Society at 465-6635 or by calling Frances Helman, Society librarian, at 465-4044.
